

UNMCF Highcom

UNMCF NCO COURSE TRAINING GUIDE

Expectations- As a non-commissioned officer (NCO) in the UNMCF it's expected that you as a small unit leader can accomplish the following tasks.

- Set the example
- Enforce good order and discipline
- Lead other members
- Accomplish the mission
- Know your members, and keep your members informed
- Uphold the integrity and traditions of the UNMCF
- Basic tactics

Purpose- UNMCF NCO's play a critical role in accomplishing any given mission. NCO's help commanders employ and effectively use elements in order to meet the commander's intent. The NCO will also lead small units such as fire teams (FT) and squads (SQD) and are responsible for the training and development of all junior members.

Setting the example - Setting the Example is defined as "Behave in a way that should (or will) be imitated". It usually is referring to setting a good example. Setting an example in this clan can mean many things for example. Wearing the proper uniform, conducting training and recruitment with respect and professionalism, acting and performing to your enlisted the way you were treated as an enlisted, to fight the good fight, and to never give up. At the end of the day it is the NCOs job to set the example.

Good Order And Discipline- Good order and discipline is defined as " is supposed to represent a core military principle, a unique. condition critical to operational success that sets the military apart from the rest of society". It is important to ensure that good order and discipline is upheld in order to assure the clan's reputation meets the expectation and to enforce universal guidelines in ethics throughout the UNMCF.

Mission- In the UNMCF other than real world responsibilities mission comes first. The NCO is crucial to accomplishing the mission at hand because the NCO will aid in leading other members to meet the commander's intent. NCO's must be able to make critical on the spot decisions so that mission accomplishment is assured.

Traditions- UNMCF NCO's are the "Keepers of tradition" it is expected that all NCO's mentor junior members, teach them about the clans, history, traditions, motto, and our views and intent in the Halo Clan Community.